

Prospectus

Students come to Hungry Creek to become self supporting artists, jewellers, designers and teachers, to gain employment with associated industries or to pursue further studies in the arts.

We are a dual campus, with the peaceful native bush setting of the main Puhoi Campus and the metropolitan North Shore Jewellery Campus.

Class sizes are limited to 15 to 20 students enabling each student to gain individual attention from tutors. Being a relatively small school, we have a friendly atmosphere; we all know and support each other.

Our tutors are practising artists and jewellers with practical and academic backgrounds and therefore provide positive role models for the students.

We welcome students of all ages and cultures and offer training in the technical and conceptual skills needed to produce cutting edge art, jewellery and craft.

We are a Private Training Establishment registered with the New Zealand Qualifications Authority. The courses are approved by NZQA and Hungry Creek is accredited to teach them. Students are entitled to the same loans and allowances as university and polytechnic students.

Contact us for more information or to visit the school.

MISSION STATEMENT

To provide a unique, artistically challenging and stimulating environment to assist students in their professional and creative development.

To encourage the student to be innovative rather than imitative.

To foster a culture of support amongst the staff, students and graduates.

To make every effort to accommodate the individuals learning style and mode of creative expression and to tutor them in a manner that best suits their needs.

To seek meaningful consultation with stakeholders in order to improve the quality of education.

Patrick Malone, painting tutor, with Terry Jones Year 2, Diploma in Art & Craft. Puhoi Campus.

Rosie Parsonson, Diploma in Art & Craft Year 2. Raku firing.

Life Drawing Class

Art & Craft

Diploma in Art & Craft

The aim of the three year full-time diploma is to give students the opportunity to refine and develop art making, professional research and presentation skills. Students work closely with tutors to develop their abilities.

Year 2: The emphasis is placed on developing and experimenting with ideas, techniques, processes and exploration of the creative process.

Year 3: The emphasis is on refining skills and ideas. Each student follows an individual learning programme designed, in conjunction with the tutors, to meet their specific learning needs and goals.

"Camera" Elke Finkenbauer, Diploma in Art & Craft, Yr 2

Certificate in Art & Craft (Foundation)

This one year qualification covers an interrelated range of art and craft disciplines designed to give students the opportunity to develop their creativity, develop technical skills, discover their strengths, and to build a firm foundation for further study.

Certificate in Art & Craft (Foundation) is the first year of the Diploma in Art and Craft, successful students are accepted into year two of the Diploma in Art & Craft.

PAINTING

Tutors: Patrick Malone MFA (Hons) Painting
Richard Darbyshire Art & Craft Dip (Advanced)

The painting programme is aimed at introducing students to the fundamental aspects of painting through the use of a variety of materials and subject matter. Students will be encouraged to develop individual expression and observational skills as well as the opportunity to question their own ideas and concepts.

CERAMICS

Tutors: Cherrie James Art & Craft Dip(Advanced). Richard Darbyshire Art & Craft Dip (Advanced)

Students will be encouraged to express themselves in clay and develop technical skills and techniques relevant to their stage of development. These will include: clay preparation and properties, throwing, hand building, glazing and a variety of firing and kiln building techniques. Students develop an individual mode of expression and work towards a creative and innovative result.

SCULPTURE

Tutor: Anna McLeod BFA (Honours)

Students will learn to use both traditional and modern sculpture techniques, materials and modes of expression. The programme covers a range of materials including clay, plaster, wood, stone, metal and non traditional materials. Senior students are encouraged to experiment with a variety of materials and processes and to develop an individual response to 3D art making.

Sarah Hayward. Certificate in Art & Craft. Sculpture class

JEWELLERY

Tutors: Tracie Taylor, Diploma in Art & Craft (Advanced)

Using a variety of approaches, students will gain an excellent grounding in a broad range of jewellery making skills. Techniques and materials are explored with a free approach to both the design input and outcome.

PROFESSIONAL STUDIES

Tutor: Anna McLeod BFA (Honours)

Covers a variety of skills required to manage a career in the arts, such as legal contracts (e.g. with galleries and dealers), photographing work, portfolio preparation, exhibiting and promotion, tax laws, funding, book keeping and teaching skills.

Rosie Parsonson, Diploma in Art & Craft, Yr 3.

LIFE DRAWING

Tutor: Alan Croggon Diploma in Art & Craft

Using a variety of approaches, students will increase their visual awareness, observational skills, understanding of form and structure; and the development of an individual interpretation. Students experiment in a variety of traditional and contemporary media to build up their drawing and mark making skills.

DESIGN

Tutor: Alexis Neal MFA

This challenging course covers theory of design elements, approaches to design, media skills, conceptual skills, research skills and the creative process will be explored using a variety of media and approaches.

Diploma in Art & Craft (Advanced)

This one year programme aims to assist the students to define and understand the art world and establish their position in it. Students integrate theory, art history, marketing and studio practice. Students are encouraged to show their work, enter the marketplace and work towards a highly professional outcome. While some students go directly from our diploma courses (or similar studies) to the advanced programme, others enrol after having practiced as artists/craftspeople or worked in related industries.

ART HISTORY

Tutors: Alexis Neal MFA. Anna McLeod BFA (Honours)

The study of Art history enables the student to contextualise art and craft from a variety of periods and cultures and to define their place as an artist. Topics studied include New Zealand art and culture - historical and contemporary, Maori and Pacific, ancient cultures, renaissance and various aspects of European art, modernism, postmodernism. Third and Fourth year students focus increasingly on art theories and postmodernism in order to contextualise their own practice.

MARKETING & CRITICAL STUDIES

Tutor: Anna McLeod BFA (Honours)

Part marketing, part theory and art context. This course covers you and the art market, the internet and arts websites, art writing, statements of intent and critical discussion on topics covered in art history.

Paul McLeod, Graduate 2007, Diploma in Art & Craft (Advanced)
